When planning to create a new drink recipe, you need more than just a bottle and some glasses. There's a lot of information that must be considered and that is why a unique app was created. This all-in-one app was created to simplify all those steps by letting the user create, mix, save, share and print new cocktails and non-alcoholic drinks. In order to help the user create the best recipes available, the app includes a huge library with around 25,000 recipes and offers the possibility to add new mixes to it. The app's interface is well-structured to offer a professional appearance and the interface is easy to use. Bartender Express Pro is a neat application specially developed to assist bartenders in their job. It has a large library which contains around 25.000 recipes and offer the possibility to add new mixes to it. Well-structured UI The interface feels like a Microsoft Office program which gives a professional impression to it. The main part of the UI is the left grid that opens the way to the recipes and info. When "Bartender Recipes" is selected, several drink classes are listed above. Those classes cover most of the drinks server in bars all around the world. Thousands of available recipes The application provides so much information about beverages that even an inexperienced bartender can take full advantage of it. The recipes are classified in eight different classes which contain their drink types. For example, if you need to mix some shots, go to "Shots," and a long list of shots will be displayed. Furthermore, all drinks have the exact amounts of ingredients and the preparation info attached to them. Simply double-click the recipe and start to mix. Handy blood alcohol calculator An interesting feature is the blood alcohol calculator which uses three vectors to determine how affected could a person be after a given amount of alcohol. The calculator needs the body weight, the number of drinks, and the hours since the first glass. As the alcohol levels are different, this calculator is not 100% on point, but it gives you a good idea about somebody's state. Bar finder included This feature is clearly intended for customers and less likely for bartenders. The bar finder lets you search for bars available in your area. Simply write down the City, and the State/Province and all locations are going to be listed along with address and schedule. Large recipe library In conclusion, Bartender Express Pro is a handy app that offers a huge archive of drinks,
